Stander the Bane of Journalism

It was rather small business for George W Smalley, the Tribese correspondent, to rofus to attend the American dinner to Gen. Gran in Parls rather than buy a ticket, and then to in Paris rather than buy at ticket, and then to copy and send to his paper an abuxes account of the same affair from the sensational Paris Gaulais. There is some doubt whether Mr. Smalley would do such a thing of his own volition. It has been apparent for some time that the reception of Gen. Grant abroad, with its reflex effect upon Americans at home, has been an unpaintable subject for the Tribone, whose editor has borne him personni hatred from the day of Vicksburg Landing to the present. Our Thanksgiving Over.

Thanksgiving has come and gone and ours, under the ratio of dividend, was out a forty-five-millionth part of the af fair, we made the most of our fraction. We much to be thankful for. Our lot has been cast in pleasant places, and is not the worst in the world. Then we have an nterest in all national affairs, and must review those and see what they present to challenge our thanks. Ours is a great country—we are a great nation and people—and we find much here to look after. The national situation at the present moment is not the source of such profound thanksgiv-ing as it might be. We find a little chaos There is much to lament, and a few things to rejoice over. It is a lamentable cirenmstance in our national history that there should ever have been such a being known as a Bourbon Democrat in this fair land. It seems to us that the world would have just as well, if not a little better, without them. Without their pernicious influence, it is but reasonable to conclude that there would have been no secession, no consequent war, no bloodshed, no loss of life with from Maire. So far as my record is consequent war, no bloodshed, no loss of life with preparation of the consequent war, no bloodshed, no loss of life with preparation of the consequent war, no bloodshed, no loss of life with preparation of take care of that. He can be all a no empty sleeves nor wooden legs to hobble through life, nor thousands of sleeping soldiers under the green sod of America; no war debt and heavy taxation to meet it; no alienation, and hence no call for pacification and reconciliation. These things now exist as a necessity, and are the fruits of Bourbon Democratic sowing from fruits of Bourbon Democratic sowing from

CLAPP ISSURED STREET, EDITOR these interesting gifts as special cause of thanksgiving, and we gave thanks most heartily therefor at the time appointed by the Chief Magistrate of the United States. And on that occasion we listened to an ele secame incontinently thankful, in view of the views of carnage, desolation, and death hold up to our mental vision, that the military distinction we have won has been in time of profound peace—when there was little danger and less bloodshed. Then came our turkey—not the one that Russia is looking upon with evil eye—and though we have seen larger, never better. The diminutive size is nted for by the American citizen of African descent who stocked our larder, in the fact that it was reared on a small farm What we lacked in turkey was compensated by a New England, accompanyment in the shape of a most delicious pumpkin pie. For all these blessings we have a stock of gratitude that we trust may endure until the President of the United States shall in his kindness proclaim another day for national esting and thanksgiving for the manifold blessings and mercies that are showered upon the American people by the munifi-cence of an All-wise and beneficent Creator.

Aspect of Affairs in the Senate.

The present aspect of affairs in the United States Senate excites much attention and much alarm lest the plans and purposes of the Bourbon Democracy to seize upon the full control of the legislative branch of the full control of the regional control of the control the entire Government, may be accom-plished. There is danger in that direction; and those who flatter themselves with the thought that there is not will in due time be convinced that the depth of the plot has not yet been fathomed. There is no perfidy too rank, no recreancy to principle too deep, no purpose too bold and daring to be entered upon now to disposess the Republican party of its rightful power and the Governnent of a rightful rule. If the Senate can be overcome, then the coast is clear for the worst enormities that the enemies of this nation can concoct and carry into execution.

The plot to capture the Senate did not begin with the present session. It dates back rous city, and it should have a pride in to the admission of LAMAE, who was thrust ahead of Kullous against the argent protest of Senator Mouron, and scated out of turn, temporary to all the joys and all the sor-rows of journalism at the national capital. Proof of this we refer to the Congressional An able Democratic paper ought to be well Record, which furnishes the following scrap of history that is incontrovertible:
